Christmas Connections

5.0 out of 5 stars 3 ratings

Two people hiding from themselves find each other and their truest selves through the magic of Christmas. A Royal Prince, Alex, never imagined he'd find so much love and joy in small-town New York. Theresa, an ambitious social media coordinator, never imagined a world outside her phone. Join Alex, Theresa, their families, and newfound friends as they discover and rediscover love, allowing them to make a CHRISTMAS CONNECTION.

The Stranger In My House

Former almost-reality-star Chloe Darling desperately wants to succeed as a food vlogger, but every attempt she makes towards self-improvement is sabotaged. When her husband Thomas is diagnosed with fatal cancer, she's forced to take control of her chaotic life. Chloe moves her family to a farm, envisioning a pleasant future, one where she films vlogs of Chloe's California Dreamin.' Instead...she's surrounded by murder. Buy yours here

The Fair Oaks Four

Astrid, Gretchen, Kana, and Madison are as different as four women in the same town can be. When they are forced to work together on a school committee, they learn that they have more in common than they could ever imagine. After all, there is nothing like a murder to forge a friendship. As they share their secrets and bury them at the same time, their connected lives become forever changed. If I'm a friendly face, I'm frightened to see who's sitting out there. Buy yours here

Khentopia by Job van Zuijlen

Khentopia is a peaceful society on the planet Zeeray, where chanting at the Harmony Center creates ethereal energy that powers a protective shield around the planet. One of the chanters is Lheandor Tamarindh.

However, danger is near. The crew of the raider ship Space Wolf plans to disrupt the chanting to break the shield. Their scheme works, leading to a disastrous event during Lheandor's chanting shift, resulting in massive destruction.

Lheandor disappears from his peaceful home and wakes up in a dark, threatening world where he is blamed for sabotage. In this alternate Khentopia, he finds refuge and a new life in the secluded settlement of Zonderstad with his girlfriend Constance.

Five years later, his life is disrupted again when he discovers a dangerous project that could destroy his original Khentopia. To prevent this disaster, Lheandor must use all his creativity and determination as he and his fellow travelers embark on a risky journey filled with unknown threats and challenges, in a race against time.

Malcolm and Me by Robin Farmer

Philly native Roberta Forest is a precocious rebel with the soul of a poet. The thirteen-year-old is young, gifted, black, and Catholic—although she's uncertain about the Catholic part after she calls Thomas Jefferson a hypocrite for enslaving people and her nun responds with a racist insult. Their ensuing fight makes Roberta question God and the important adults in her life, all of whom seem to see truth as gray when Roberta believes it's black or white.

An upcoming essay contest, writing poetry, and reading The Autobiography of Malcolm X all help Roberta cope with the various difficulties she's experiencing in her life, including her parent's troubled marriage. But when she's told she's ineligible to compete in the school's essay contest, her explosive reaction to the news leads to a confrontation with her mother, who shares some family truths Roberta isn't ready for.

Set against the backdrop of Watergate and the post-civil rights movement era, Malcolm and Me is a gritty yet graceful examination of the anguish teens experience when their growing awareness of themselves and the world around them unravels their sense of security—a coming-of-age tale of truth-telling, faith, family, forgiveness, and social activism.
